Cannon Safe Announces Passing of Steve Baker

Las Vegas, NV - Cannon Safe Inc., the leader in home safe design and technology, announces the passing of Steven Baker who for over 25 years was the face of Cannon Safe. He died peacefully on December 6th surrounded by loved ones near San Bernardino, California where the company was previously headquartered. He was beloved throughout the company, customers and its vendor partners. Steve leaves behind a legacy of innovation, hard work, and community leadership. Steve's passing comes during Cannon Safe's 50th anniversary.

"Steve's greatest joys came from building and lifting those around him," states Aaron Baker, CEO of Cannon Safe. "My dad taught that by holding people to high standards while helping them grow and develop valuable skills will not only benefit the overall goals of the company, but will benefit our community by developing leaders."

Steve recognized early that he was in the business of helping people. That leaves no surprise why being in the business of protecting people's valuable possessions brought him great joy. His mission for Cannon Safe was to help provide peace of mind for his customers both in the quality of the product and through their exceptional customer service.

Steve's Legacy lives on as Cannon Safe, Inc. works to achieve its BHAG goal of, "A Safe in Every Home."
